If you have a site that needs public Wi-Fi solutions, the proven Cisco Meraki products from PVT will save money and simplify deployment of your wireless system.

Zero-touch access point provisioning, network-wide visibility and control, cloud-based RF optimization, and seamless firmware updates mean configuration and management without training or a dedicated staff.

With the trending of BYOD (bring your own device) and faster devices, networks are seeing changing demands. Not only does the Meraki solution allow you to monitor and limit the bandwidth on applications and devices, but the ability for Meraki to add features to the dashboard with the changing market gives customers the peace of mind that they are future-proofing their investment.
